

Topic: Your Database/Processing System - Vendors?
 Question by: Patricia L. Barfield
 Jurisdiction: Arizona
 Date: September 27, 2013

Jurisdiction	Question(s)
	I know several of you have mentioned in recent emails that you are working on either new systems/software or business portal ventures. We, too, were developing a new system, but the decision was made to redesign it instead of implementing it. We have a request for information (RFI) out right now, and I'm looking for vendors to solicit a response from. We do not have the resources to do this in-house, so I am looking for skilled vendors who would be capable of providing a completed, possibly heavily-customized product. If any of you have used a vendor for a complex project that you were satisfied with, please pass along their contact information. Our RFI was prepared by our current Interim CIO and is at this link: http://www.azcc.gov/Divisions/Corporations/Corporations-Division-database-RFI.pdf

Hi Everyone. If you have a moment, I would very much appreciate your response on this.

I know several of you have mentioned in recent emails that you are working on either new systems/software or business portal ventures. We, too, were developing a new system, but the decision was made to redesign it instead of implementing it. We have a request for information (RFI) out right now, and I'm looking for vendors to solicit a response from. We do not have the resources to do this in-house, so I am looking for skilled vendors who would be capable of providing a completed, possibly heavily-customized product. If any of you have used a vendor for a complex project that you were satisfied with, please pass along their contact information.

Thank you,

Patricia L. Barfield
