

Kevin Shannon

Kevin Shannon is Dun & Bradstreet's Global Head of Enterprise Data & Analytics Governance. His modern, award winning approach to Data Governance has made him a trusted advisor and valued resource to the global community of data governance practitioners. Kevin has more than 20 years of experience conceiving and implementing enterprise data management strategies and technology solutions, defining information architecture, establishing vision from concept through completion, and overseeing the associated data, technology and business process change.